A family practice physician who works at the IVCH Oglesby Medical Clinic, Dr. DeBoer came to the hospital in 2011 from Denver, Colorado, where she had been in private practice after leaving the United States Army in 2006.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Wendy Lamboley, IVCH inpatient physical therapist, has been honored with the 2017 Outstanding Part-time Faculty Award at Illinois Valley Community College.

Wendy Lamboley is an anatomy and physiology instructor at IVCC and also a guest lecturer in the college’s therapeutic massage program. She began teaching at IVCC in 2003 and has been chosen to deliver the keynote address at five therapeutic massage commencements.

Lamboley has a bachelor’s in physical therapy from the University of Findlay (Ohio), a master’s in human anatomy and physiology instruction from New York Chiropractic College and a doctorate in physical therapy from Boston University.

After noting how a student having difficulty in class received help from Lamboley, the student who nominated Lamboley for the award said, “To me that is an exceptional instructor to recognize and address our struggles before we even knew we were struggling.

“Wendy also came in on off days to help me and my classmates study for an upcoming test and also helped prep us for our state board exam. Her knowledge, love, and enthusiasm of anatomy and physiology was very much appreciated,” the student added.

Lamboley will be recognized at IVCC’s April 28 employee recognition ceremony.

WENDY LAMBOLEY HONORED BY IVCC

At least nine IVCH doctors will have their culinary skills on display at the third “Cookin with the Doctors” fundraiser for the Illinois Valley Community Hospital Foundation Thursday, April 6, from 6-8:30 p.m. at Senica’s Oak Ridge Golf Club.

The event will give guests the opportunity to sample the cooking creations of members of the IVCH medical staff. Money raised from ticket sales, sponsorships, and a silent auction will go into a Foundation fund that helps the hospital purchase medical equipment or provide services it otherwise might not be able to afford.

The list of doctors who will be cooking April 6 includes Dr. Paul Bonucci, Dr. Mark Fernandez, Dr. Paul Kim, Dr. Steve Lukancic, Dr. Tony Williams, Dr. Shylrene Bogard, Dr. Kelly DeBoer, Dr. Mark Henry, and Dr. Eugene Becker.

“Besides enjoying great food, guests will also get an opportunity to talk with the doctors in an informal setting,” said Renee Kim, IVCH Foundation board of directors’ member and chair of the committee planning “Cookin’ with the Doctors.”

Cookin’ tickets are $35 each and must be purchased in advance – tickets will not be sold at the door. You can pick up a ticket at the West Street information desk between 7:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. weekdays or by stopping by the IVCH Foundation office or the Public Relations office on 2R. Tables of ten can be reserved for $500. You can also help the Foundation by sponsoring a doctor for $150.

For more information, call Jheri Emmerling, IVCH Foundation secretary, at 815-780-4642.

Volunteer birthdays

Please join me in wishing a very happy birthday to the following volunteers: Jensen’s Grubich-Afternoon Program (4/1), Sharon Leppin-JRC (4/2), Jim Pettit-JRC (4/7), Allen Kuehn-Red Coat (4/10), and Jerry Hahn-Red Coat (4/19).
Orchids are on sale for $10 each in the OB Department to benefit the March of Dimes.

“We are excited about this opportunity to bring a little spring to our employees as well as to raise money for a good cause,” said Angela O’Bryant, OB director. Funds raised through sale of the orchids – grown in the Illinois Valley at Color Point (formerly MidAmerican Growers) near Granville – will support the IVCH team that will take part in the Illinois Valley March for Babies Sunday, April 23, at the Illinois Valley YMCA. O’Bryant and Christine Askeland, a nurse at the Women’s Health Care Center, are co-captains of the team.

The IVCH team is selling March for Babies Walk t-shirts and sponsoring an Easter Basket Challenge to all IVCH departments and medical offices with proceeds going towards the team’s goal.

Contact O’Bryant at ext. 3319 or Askeland at ext. 5000 if you would like to be part of the IVCH March for Babies team and/or participate in the basket challenge. You can also sign up online at marchforbabies.org/team/IVCH.

March of Dimes supports research for premature infants, infants born with birth defects, education for nurses and health care providers, and supportive care to families affected by a neonatal intensive care stay.

The latest element in implementation of IVCH’s Noise Initiative is adoption of a daily 1:00-to-3:00 p.m. “Quiet Hours” policy on the hospital’s nursing units.

“We feel it is important to make IVCH a quiet and healing environment all day long, and not just at night,” said Jim Schaefer, vice president of operations and physician services. “Quiet Hours have been identified as a key best practice in achieving our goal of improving our HCAHPS Quiet Score, showing respect for our patients, and creating an atmosphere that is conducive to rest and supportive of the healing process.”

During Quiet Hours:

• Lights are turned down across the unit and in patient rooms.
• Overhead paging is minimized.
• Conversations in nursing stations and other areas are minimized or conducted in a hushed manner.
• Visitors are encouraged to participate and also to take breaks to let their loved ones rest.
• TVs and music should be at low volumes or headphones should be used.
• Phone conversations are allowed only in designated areas away from patient rooms.

Schaefer noted that scheduled treatments such as PT exercises and tests by ancillary departments will still take place during Quiet Hours but that all staff should be cognizant of the need to perform tasks as quietly as possible.

Quiet Hours are designated by signage placed throughout each nursing unit. Staff are encouraged to remind patients and families about quiet hours during their rounds, said Schaefer.

If you spent part of the evening of February 2 watching the NBC TV drama Chicago Med, you may have seen Dr. Brandon Musgrave, who had replied to a Facebook post from the producers of the show saying they needed an ear, nose and throat specialist for a scene. Musgrave replied to the post and was hired for the day of the shoot. He was only on screen for a couple of seconds, but if you looked quickly, you may have seen this shot.

NEW PHYSICIAN COMING THIS SUMMER

Illinois Valley parents will have another option for medical care for their children when a new pediatrician joins the IVCH medical staff this summer. Dr. Anju Patel will move to the area after completing her pediatric residency at the Western Michigan University Homer Stryker School of Medicine.

PEDIATRIC PHYSICAL THERAPIST JOINS CPRA STAFF

Ann Kois, MA, PT, a physical therapist who specializes in pediatrics, joined the staff of the IVCH Center for Physical Rehabilitation and Aquatics earlier this year. She is a graduate of Old Dominion University and Wheaton College who relocated to the Illinois Valley from the Chicago area. “Ann’s passion is patient/parent education in treating developmental and neurological conditions,” says Kelly Dzierzynski, CPRA director. “She emphasizes community integration, helping children fit into the world around them.”

IVCH TEAM SUPPORTS JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT

Linda Pinn (Respiratory Care) headed a team of seven IVCH employees and family members who participated in the February 25 Junior Achievement of the Heartland Bowl-A-Thon at the Illinois Valley Super Bowl in Peru. The group, which raised $460 for JA, included Pinn, Pam Tondi, Ashley Freitag, Dori Bonnell, Matt Tondi, Kristen Pinn and Danni Seibert. Pinn is a member of the local JA Advisory Council.

If you were working at IVCH during the late afternoon, evening, and night of February 28, you know that the storms that passed through the Illinois Valley that day heightened anxiety levels and prompted a Code Grey at the hospital. In a hospital-wide e-mail message sent the next day, Pat Rogers, chief nursing officer, thanked the IVCH staff for their efforts in keeping patients safe and comfortable during the bad weather.

“On behalf of the Executive Leadership Team, I would like to give a big thank you to all of the staff who were here last evening during the storms,” said Rogers. “Patients were moved out into the hallways twice during the evening and most ate their dinner meal in the hallway. Staff worked as a remarkable team taking care of the patients all throughout the building.

Staff stayed over to help, came in extra to help and many called in to offer their help if needed. Truly a great group of employees who came together to provide safety, care and concern for our patients. THANK YOU!!”

Cardiologist Mauro Montevecchi, MD, and gastroenterologist Geetha Dodda, MD, volunteered their time to speak at IVCH community education programs in February and March.

Dr. Montevecchi was the featured speaker at the hospital’s annual American Heart Month program February 22 at Celebrations 150, LaSalle, and Dr. Dodda hosted a “tummy troubles” question-and-answer session at IVCH March 8 in observance of National Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month.
